CANTOR WILL CALL FOR A SENATE INVESTIGATION,

A Thirties Constitution of the Constitution of Valent the Attempt to Smother the Discoveries of the Assembly Committee Is Abandoned Gag Law Invoked by a Democrat in the Assembly Chamber to Shelter the Rascality of Republicans.

The Hon. Benjamin Hoffman, the Democratic Assemblyman from the Sixth New York district returned from Albany yesterday. He is the minority member of the Syracuse investi-gating committee which elicited such startling esumony about the way the Republicans run Syracuse. Mr. Hoffman said to a Sun reporter yesterday that everybody at Albany was fully aware of the efforts of the Republicans to smother the investigation, and he regretted to be compelled to declare that they had been aided in their purpose by Assemblyman John A. Hennessy, the Democratic member for the Second District of Kings. Mr. Hennessy is also a member of the Ways and Means Committee, of which Mr. Ainsworth of Celling street is chairman. It was this committee which extended the time allowed for the investigation. granted the request of the Republican officials Syracuse that they be permitted to be represented by counsel in request always denied by the Republican Legislative Committee to accused Democratic officials), and appropriated $4,000 to hire counsel. Mr. Hoffman said that only a few days ago, when Assemblyman Foley, the Democratic leader of the minority, attempted to take the preliminary steps to have the Syra cuse committee discharged in order that its repert might be the subject of debate on the floor of the Assembly. Mr. Hennessy moved the previous question, and would not listen to Mr. Fo ley's plea for a hearing.

Mr. Hoffman's impression is that it is the intention of the Republicans to attempt to drag along the investigation until September or October, and eventually to do nothing at all; although he has heard reports to the effect that at the proper time a demand for an appropriation of $25,000 will be made. But if this programme $25,000 will be made. But if this programme is carried out it will be in the interest of the Beiden faction as against the Hendricks-Amos faction of Republicans.

The main question with Assemblyman Hoffman and with other Democrats is. Are the Republicans to shut off this investigation which has shown such a direful state of affairs in a Republican city dominated by Republican officials? Mr. Hoffman said yesterday that they would not if he could prevent it, and he added that he has been in consultation with Leader Feley and Assemblyman John B. Stanchield of Elmira. Mr. Hoffman has also consulted with Democrats higher up, and is prepared to make a fight.

fight. "I do not ask the voters of this State," he said fight.

"I do not ask the voters of this State," he said gesterday. "to accept my minority report of the frightful developments as to municipal methods in Syracuse. I insist that it is correct, but I waive that. Let the people read the report of my Republican colleagues, the four gentlemen who signed this majority report, which is even worse than any strictures I ventured to make in my report. Still, in the face of the exposure, Hennessy of Kiregs, who says he is a Democrat, came to the rescue of the Republicans and moved the previous question on Mr. Foley when Mr. Foley demanded to be heard. We will again attempt during the coming week to have the Syracuse committee discharged for the purpose of bringing out debate on the allegations of corruption and mismanagement which the four Republicans, Chapman, Conkling, Sanger, and Audett, themselves signed. The Republican majority against us is large, almost overwhelming, but we are determined to make it clear that this reform Republican Legislature has a well-defined plan to hide the corruption at Syracuse."

If the Republican majority in the Assembly has a well-defined plan to the Assembly at Syracuse."

If the Republican majority in the Assembly applies the gag to Mr. Foley, Mr. Stanchfield, and Mr. Hoffman, Senator Cantor will introduce in the Senate a resolution calling for a Senate investigation of Syracuse.

A PRISONER WALKS OUT OF COURT. A Thief Allowed to Escape, Though Jef-ferson Market Bristled with Police,

Francis Murray, alias John McCue, has been out of Sing Sing about two months. On Thursday night at 10:30 o'clock, while riding on an Eighth avenue car at Forty-first street, he grabbed a $65 diamond scarfpin from the necktie of James Hopkins of 330 West Eighteenth street. Murray jumped off the car and Hopkins followed him, shouting "Stop thief!" The audience of the American Theatre was just leaving the house, and they joined in the pur suit of the thief. The latter had run about half a block when a burly negro woman seized him. He tried to throw her aside, but she picked him up and tossed him through a plate glass window, badly cutting his hand. Just then Policeman Williamson of the West Thirty-seventh street station came along and arrested Murray. Early yesterday morning Williamson took Murray to the Jefferson Market Police Court and placed him in line with the other prisoners, while he, with Mr. Hopkins, went up to the clerk's desk to draw up a complaint. Murray stood in his place bowing to the different policemen around. He has quite a circle of acquaintances in the court, having been there so often-About a quarter of an hour after being placed in line Policeman McGurkin, who tends the gate, saw Murray throw a ball of paper over the railing into the audience. A small boy picked up the paper, read it, and then, catching Murray's eye, smiled at him. McGurkin was suspicious at once and called to Policeman Williamson, who was still in front of the clerk's desk.

Williamson, thinking Murray had gone to get a glass of water, leisurely walked back to the water tank, but he did not see Murray. His face got white, and he ran from one room to another, but no trace of Murray could be found. Then the frightened policeman gave a general alarm, and half a dozen court attachés searcheid every nook and corner of the building. Then they went to the boy to whom Murray had thrown the note. He said he was Joseph Monger of 396 Eighth avenue. The note Murray had tossed to him read:

I am in under the name of Francis Murray. Go do nd get a pass to see me, and I'll tell you what to do and get a pass to see me, and Fit tell you what to do.

Monger said that he had met Murray twice, both times in a pool room, and that was all he would tell. Serweant Hoody of the court squad sent out all the men he could spare to hunt up Murray. Policeman McGurkin took Monger with him to aid in the search.

Murray got out the back way; that is, through the prison pens. To do so he had to pass Policeman Buckridge, who tends to the gates, and Policeman Gardiner of the pens. Buckridge said that he never let any one pass him unless accompanied by an officer, and his theory is that Murray, watching his chance, fell in behind some policeman who was leaving the prison.

CASHIER RISLEY'S SHORTAGE. Deficit of $200,000 in the Dead Man's Ac

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., April 26.-The depositors in the First National Bank of Willimantic may lose all their money. The amount of the late Cashier Risley's defalcation is not known yet, but more than $200,000 deficit has already een discovered.

A Hartford trust company sent out yesterday $70,000 in notes which it had rediscounted for Risley and wanted examined. It was found that more than $20,000 of the paper bore forged signatures. Bank Examiners Dooley and Lynch think they have discovered all the forged notes, but are in doubt as to one of $5,000. They refuse to give the names signed to the notes. No record of the manner in which the notes were rediscounted could be found.

The capital stock of the institution is $100,000, and its surplus fund was $26,000. This and probably more than $100,000 in addition has been completely wiped out.

Risley did not spend the money on himself ard cost him $9 a week, and he kept a His board cost him $0 a week, and he kept a pair of fast horses which cost $25 a month. His salary was $3.500 a year, and it was supposed he lived on $2.000, as he was rather penurious. It is not probable that he speculated in stocks. "Risley did not get the money," said Cashier Culverhouse, the detaulter's successor. "That is, he did not get it and spend it for himsef. I don't say that he had an accomplice. He did not get the money for himself. I think I know who he get it for. I can mention no names, as we are not in a position yet to prove that our supplicions are true. I have no doubt that we are right, however, and at the proper time plenty of facts will be developed and of a sensational nature, too."

of facts will be developed and of a sensational nature, too."

The belief is growing in Willimantic that the money which Risley obtained went into the business enterprises of some of his friends. Ansel Arnold, the President of the bank, is more than 80 years old. The attention he and the Vice-President, A. F. Fowler, paid to the bank's affairs is shown by the fact that their forged notes for $5,000 each have been reckoned among the assets for more than a year without thair knowledge.

Nine Jurors for McLaughlinin Two Weeks. At the end of the second week of the trial of Inspector McLaughlin in the Oyer and Terminer for bribery and extortion there were but nine jurors in the box. No juror was obtained yesterday, but the defence was obliged to use two of its peremptory challenges on A. Irving Griggs, a metal dealer of 26 Water street, and Frederick Nordslock, Insurance, of 1.066 Seventh avenue. The case will go on on Monday. It came out yesterday that William P. Durando, the sixth juror in the box, was co-respondent in the suit for divorce brought by Janiel D. Brinckerhoff against his wife Henrietta and afterward married her. On the trial etta and atterward married her. On the trial of the divorce suit he was severely cross-examined by Daniel G. Rollins, now special counsel for the prosecution in the McLaughlin case.
There is some talk of excusing Juror Durando on that ground.

An inquest was held yesterday in the case of Timothy Hurley, a Park Department laborer, who was fatally injured on April 9 by being struck by a Third avenue cable car at Third avenue and Ninety-third street. Emil Eiseman, a talesman not sitting on the case, says that the same man approached him a few moments before and began to talk about the innocence of Mrs. Kraft. A warrant is out for this man's arrest. He is described as little and fair-baired.

This is one of the cases which was brought up by the Goo Goo Five and the Garoos against District Attorney Fellows. It was contended that the case was delayed through the neglect of the District Attorney for nearly two years. Mrs. Kraft was indicted in February, 1893, and could not give the bail required. On Aug. 4, 1893, Recorder Smyth sand that if the District Attorney did not move the case for trial on the second Monday the bail would be reduced. She got out on $1,000 bail.

After the woman was convicted yesterday Assistant District Attorney Unger explained the cause of the delay. He said that Coroner Messemer, who had charge of the case, and Dr. Conway, his deputy, had both died. The only witness whom the prosecution could depend on to secure a conviction was Dr. Abram Hayman, who took the dying girl's statement. He could not be found. Recently Joseph O'Nell, a subpena server, located Dr. Hayman, who was acting as house surgeon of St. Mark's Hospital, Brooklyn. Dr. Hayman had no idea he was wanted as a witness. He gave testimony at the trial.

Chicago Labor Men Think the Supreme Court Will Favor Their Side.

CHICAGO, April 26.-A telegram, supposed to have relation to the Debs conspiracy case, was received from Attorney-General Olney by the United States District Attorney to-day. It read:

It is believed that the finding of the United States Sulieved that the finding of the United States Supreme Court in the Debs contempt case appealed to it will soon be rendered, and the Debs men think that it will favor their side. When the conspiracy trial was continued to the first Monday in May on account of the illness of a Juror at the trial in progress last winter Debs said he would never be brought to trial again, and the order from Washington to-day, his side thinks, puts that aspect on the case. The Government law officers who are interested in the case were at a loss to know what the telegram meant, but supposed it was sent in view of some expressed action of the Supreme Court.

BEER AND BATHING BANNED.

DR. DIO LEWIS,

Lager and Swimming. ORANGE, April 26.-The West Orange town ship committee has decided to start a crusade against vice and immorality in that place, which will be unique in many of its features. The principal object of the crusade is to be the stoppage of beer selling at Eagle Rock on Sundays, but among the side issues are to be the abolishment of gambling houses, cock fights, and bathing.

At a meeting of the West Orange township At a meeting of the West Orange township committee last night an ordinance was adopted which, if enforced, will probably put a stop to Sunday beer selling. It provides a nenalty of $20 fine for each offence. It also prohibits Sunday baseball playing and amusements of all kinds, including cock and dog fights, under penalty of fines for each violation.

Perhaps the most original of the restrictions and regulations is that concerning bathing, to which one section of the new ordinance is allotted. This clause provides that "no bathing or swimming shall be allowed within the boundaries of the township, in any waters within 200 yards of any dwelling, under a penalty of $2 for each offence."

The West Orange authorities declare that every provision of the new laws will be enforced, even to the bathing.
